Office Action Summary

The rejection of the claims under 35 USC 102 over Lee has been dropped in view of applicant's amendment to the claims.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hazell (6,395,320) in view of Hardman (5,972,408) and Gum (5,817,356).

Hazell discloses a two-component packaged food product for packaging foods, such as pasta and sauce (column 4, lines 45-60). Thus Hazell is relied upon to show the features of the preamble of claim 1. The claims appear to differ from the references in the recitation of the specifics of components a and b. Hardman teaches a reduced fat sauce. The pH of the sauce is described at column 2, lines 1-6 to vary from a pH of 4.6 to 6.5, preferable from a pH of 5.9 to 6.2. The type of sauces contemplated include pesto and Alfredo sauce. This sauce fully meets the requirements for component b in claims 1 and 3. Gum teaches a pasta that is acidified to a pH of less than about 5, preferably less than 4.6 (see column 3, lines 18-24).

The Gum reference fully meets the requirements for component a of claims 1 and 3. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to utilize the two component package of Hazell to package the pasta of Gum and the sauce of Hardman and prepare a shelf stable food product that contains separate food items preserved at a separate pH. The concept of using the sauce to modify the organoleptic properties of the food is shown in the abstract.

Claim 20 is allowed.

Claims 21 and 22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
